"While ending legalized abortion remains our preeminent priority, the most immediate way to save babies and mothers from abortion is to thoroughly surround mothers in need with lifegiving support and personal accompaniment. This is radical solidarity."

WHAT THE MEDIA DOESN'T WANT YOU TO KNOW ABOUT THE "EQUALITY AMENDMENT"

In November 2024 a proposed state constitutional amendment, the "Equality Amendment" (S.108A), if approved by the voters, will create a state constitutional right to "REPRODUCTIVE HEALTHCARE AND AUTONOMY" for "PERSONS". Notably absent from its text are the words and phrases "MINOR", "PARENT", "CONSCIENCE" and "LATE TERM".

This "Equality Amendment" will empower unaccountable state judges and bureaucrats to:

One, DISCRIMINATE against social workers, educators and health care workers, INCLUDING DOCTORS AND NURSES by denying them licenses if they refuse to do abortion referrals.

Two, DISCRIMINATE against PARENTS by denying parents the right to require their consent for their minor age daughters being given an abortion while requiring the consent of parents for their minor age daughters being given an aspirin.

Three, DISCRIMINATE against BABIES by denying their right to life by endorsing their killing by abortion, including painful late term and partial birth abortion, and by infanticide through intentional neglect if the baby is born alive after an attempted abortion.

Four, DISCRIMINATE IN FAVOR OF ABORTIONISTS by awarding abortionists the PRIVILEGE of operating without the licensing, health and safety regulations lifesaving surgeons and pharmacists must adhere to.

Please vote against the "Equality Amendment" in 2024.

Candidate Questionnaire received after October Life News went to print: Rose M. Walker, incumbent, is a candidate for Nassau County Legislature's District 17, on the GOP and Conservative party lines. She answered all 7 CQ questions "Yes", the pro-life answer. For the questions, please refer to October 2023 Life News.

FEDERAL LEGISLATION

HR.5577, the FACE Act Repeal Act, was introduced Sept. 19. The FACE Act was signed into law in 1994. It is primarily known as a law promoted by pro-abortion activists to limit pro-life activity on or near abortion facilities. It includes safeguards for houses of worship. Eight pro-lifers were recently convicted of conspiracy and FACE Act violations and sent directly to federal prison (possibly 11 years) and could be fined $350,000 each, for entering the Wash., DC Surgi-Center abortuary. Several appeals continue. If this repeal act is passed, prosecutions that began before passage would be covered. As of this newsletter going to print, no LI Representatives are cosponsors of the repeal act. Contact your Congressperson and ask them to cosponsor this bill.

HR.4368/S.2131, the Agriculture/FDA bill failed in the House, 191-237. It had a section that would have banned the sale of the abortion pill mifepristone via mail or in drug stores. LI Rep. D'Esposito spoke against this provision. {Santos-yea || D'Esposito, Garbarino, LaLota-nay}

NDAA, the National Defense Authorization Act: The House and Senate each passed their own versions of the NDAA in July. The Senate bill would pay service-women's abortion expenses. The Hyde Amendment bans this, said Sen. Tuberville, who 'halted' 300 military promotions unless abortion funding was cut. Schumer wanted to approve all 300 by one voice vote. Votes taken mid-Sept. on three individual officers, and both sides said 'you lost'. But the 'halt' endures. Sept. 28: House passed a joint House/Senate version of NDAA, with abortion funding.

The Pregnant Workers Fairness Act, signed into law in 2022, is intended to protect "pregnant workers, especially those in low-wage and physically demanding jobs who have been forced to choose between their health and a paycheck." The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission wants it to cover abortion. Contact your representatives and ask them to tell the EEOC to keep abortion out of the Pregnant Workers Fairness Act. (After the Americans with Disabilities Act was passed, employment of the disabled fell from 30% to 15%. Employers feared lawsuits if an individual was fired. Will this happen to young women?)

The Supreme Court will review an Appeals Court case and decide whether to let it stand. The 5th Circuit Court of Appeals issued a decision in Alliance for Hippocratic Medicine v. U.S. Food and Drug Administration that found the FDA must restore critical safeguards for chemical abortion drugs. These include a seven-week gestational limit, required office visits, non-fatal adverse event reporting, and dispensation by a physician. The appeals court condemned the FDA approval process and restored the limits on the drug that the current administration had removed. The ruling also prohibited businesses from sending the abortion drugs through the mail, as that is a direct violation of federal law. However, even if the Supreme Court allows the 5th Circuit ruling to stand, NYS will have the drug available in person, and has promised to protect abortionists from criminal liability for mailing the drugs across state lines. NY has been stockpiling abortion drugs in preparation for this. The drug remains available without medical oversight pending the Supreme Court's review, and abortion businesses continue to ship the drug to women.

The Supreme Court declined to review several guilty verdicts in the cases involving the undercover 'aborted baby-parts' videos, some of which imposed $15M+ in fines.

The 5th Circuit Court upheld the lower court Missouri v Biden ruling, which held that the federal government cannot work with, or force social media to remove content that is protected by the First Amendment.

NEW YORK STATE LEGISLATION

NYC's health system announced Oct. 2 that it is the first in the nation to offer "on demand virtual abortion access...

patients in New York City seeking abortion care will be able to schedule a Virtual Express Care appointment to speak with a NY state-licensed health care professional by video or phone, on-demand, for an assessment and counseling. If clinically appropriate and prescribed, patients will be able to receive a medication abortion kit at their NYC address within a few days." The service is available seven days a week. Women must attest that they will be in the city when they take the abortion drugs. A NYC address must be provided if they ask for the drugs by mail. The abortion drugs are available "to clinically eligible patients who are up to 10 weeks into their pregnancy." NYC also established an "abortion access hub" in Nov. 2022. The hub "confidentially" connects callers with abortionists in the city. Mayor Adams also signed legislation making abortion drugs free at the city's sexual health clinics – another first in the country.

New York State Equality Amendment: Politico reported (6/29/23) that activists in NYS have vowed to spend $20 million to help pass the Equality Amendment at the ballot box in Nov. 2024. Creating this constitutional protection on the category of abortion allows the state of New York to use the long arm of the government to bring all its citizens in line with unrestrained access to abortion. The passage of the Equality Amendment would result in the erosion of religious liberty for many people of faith and faith-based organizations. You can be sure to expect medical workers would be compelled to participate in abortions and assisted suicide or face severe penalties or termination. This is a battle for our very souls, whether we like it or not. Educate everyone you know about the dangers of this amendment. Tell them to vote "NO" on this amendment in November 2024. (See page 2)

HEALTH & SCIENCE

Abortion and Maternal Mortality

One of the talking points among those who advocate for abortion as a human right is that abortion complications contribute to maternal death and injury, and the only alternative is “safe” abortion - national laws and policies making abortion part of basic health care. Rebecca Oas, Ph.D., Director of Research at C-Fam, released a report in C-Fam’s September 2023 issue of Definitions, entitled “Why Abortion is Not the Solution to Maternal Mortality.” She stated, “for those who hold that human beings are persons both before and after birth and have intrinsic human dignity from conception to natural death – these arguments must be opposed, but to disprove them requires reexamining many of the seemingly innocuous methods and terminologies used in the field of maternal health. This paper explores the ways in which the medical and scientific fields have been weaponized against unborn human life and how ideology masquerades as “facts” and “evidence” to promote this deadly agenda.”

The World Health Organization (WHO) defines maternal mortality as “the annual number of female deaths from any cause related to or aggravated by pregnancy or its management (excluding accidental or incidental causes) during pregnancy and childbirth or within 42 days of termination of pregnancy, irrespective of the duration and site of the pregnancy, expressed per 100,000 live births, for a specific time period.” Oas noted that the goal of medical interventions is to provide for the survival of two patients – neither life is considered “expendable.” Sometimes, these interventions do fail. The intent of induced abortion is to end the life of the child. Since abortion complications may also claim the life of the mother, those deaths are included in maternal mortality figures. Oas argued that there is a “fundamental difference between these deaths and other maternal deaths. In one case, a natural process encountered complications that were not remedied by medical interventions (or may even have been exacerbated by them), and in the other case, an intervention with an expressly lethal intention was used to disrupt a natural process.”

The Centers for Disease Control (CDC) defines a “pregnancy related death as the death of a woman during pregnancy or within one year of the end of pregnancy from a pregnancy complication, a chain of events initiated by the pregnancy, or the aggravation of an unrelated condition by the physiologic effects of pregnancy.” Oas noted that this is a much broader definition than the WHO, and “dramatically” effects the data collected. Homicide is a leading cause of death in the US for women, and including these deaths inflates maternal death figures. (Harvard researchers argued that abortion is needed to reduce the risk of abuse and death.)

The definition of abortion “is not always as straightforward as it might appear,” Oas reported.

When it’s used to describe the cause of a maternal death, it “typically refers to complications of both spontaneous [miscarriage] and induced abortion caused by surgical, chemical or other means.” It is sometimes difficult, when information is not available – or deliberately withheld – to determine whether the miscarriage was spontaneous or induced. The management of the miscarriage would be the same. Oas noted that although the complications and management would be the same, the intent and the legal ramifications are different. The Dublin Declaration on Maternal Healthcare states, “direct abortion – the purposeful destruction of the unborn child – is not medically necessary to save the life of a woman...the prohibition of abortion does not affect, in any way, the availability of optimal care.” Oas states, “intention is key. In any dispute over abortion as it relates to maternal health, the question must be asked whether there are two lives to be saved (that is, that the unborn child is in fact still alive), and whether, as far as possible, efforts are being made to save them both.” She noted that in a situation where the mother’s life and health are not at risk, but the unborn child has a fatal condition, if an induced abortion is performed it is a form of euthanasia.

Worldwide maternal deaths fell 33% from 2000-2015. Fifty-eight countries with the highest maternal mortality rates have seen a reduction of 50%. COVID negatively impacted this decline. However, Oas stated, “interventions exist to prevent or treat most complications of pregnancy and childbirth, and further efforts are necessary to ensure that they reach women in the most poor and remote countries, regions, and situations... the lion’s share of improvements in maternal survival took place” before liberal abortion laws were passed. “The advent of modern medicine, including antibiotics, combined with the political will to ensure women’s and children’s survival, were far more consequential. By the time Roe v. Wade was decided, both birth rates and maternal mortality had declined.”

Maternal mortality rates in Africa are among the highest in the world, due mostly to poor access to medical resources. Abortion activists are promoting abortion as the ‘solution’ to this problem instead of better medical care to prevent hemorrhage, hypertensive disorders in pregnancy, infection, and other complications. Real, life-saving treatments need to be the priority, not abortion. Oas comments that access to quality healthcare, medicines, clean water, sanitation, transportation, and education for women and girls leads to lower maternal mortality rates. Studies also document that there are more deaths in the year following an abortion than following childbirth – limiting abortion helps to lower maternal mortality. Lower maternal mortality rates were achieved long before abortion was legalized in the West. As was done in the US prior to Roe, abortion activists are exaggerating maternal deaths in Africa from illegal abortions to promote legalizing it.

Abortion activists often cite the US’ higher maternal mortality compared to other developed countries in defending their argument that abortion is safer than childbirth. Abortion is seriously underreported in the US, especially now that the abortion pill accounts for over 50% of all abortions. This will lead to complications from induced abortion being attributed to spontaneous miscarriage - encouraged by some abortionists and illegal pill suppliers.

A procedure that intends to kill one human being and carries a risk of killing another can never be labeled ‘safe’.

In Vitro Gametogenesis (IVG): Japanese scientists were able to create healthy, fertile mice from artificial eggs and sperm. Modified skin cells (induced pluripotent cells or iPS cells) were converted to gametes and then used to create “artificial embryos” that were then implanted in mice uteruses. Scientists are now trying to do the same with humans. The goal of IVG is to make unlimited supplies of eggs and sperm from any cell in the human body. This would allow anyone to have a genetically related child. They believe they will have the eggs ready to be fertilized to create artificial human embryos in 5-10 years. Even though they know there are many ethical issues involved with these experiments, they are continuing with the project. They admit that years of experimentation are needed to be sure artificial IVG embryos aren’t carrying dangerous genetic mutations. How many embryonic lives will be created and destroyed in the process?
